

$145,000 NEED application approved

Verbal confirmation has been received by Anson, Hindon and Minden township council that its application for a $199,000 make-work program has been approved. Word of the approval was received late Tuesday afternoon.

The application, made under the joint federal provincial NEED program, was submitted at the end of February. The entire application was approved by the committee which oversees the program.

According to the clerk-treasurer, Elinor Burke, this was one of the few times that an application of this sort has not been reduced before being approved.

Under the terms of the application, the federal and provincial governments will provide $145,600 to cover the cost of labour and some materials for various projects outlined in the township's application. The municipality is expected to provide $53,600 to cover the cost of material used in the work. The clerk noted that the municipality's share could be provided in equipment, money or material.

Among the items included in the township's application were: the reconstruction of the main street sidewalks in the downtown area; development of a winter park in the area of the Scotch Line Dump Site; this would involve the construction of cross country ski trails; riverbank improvements, including lighting along the river and bike paths; improvements to the municipal parking lots; canopy construction along the Main Street; improvements and canopies for the walkways through to the parking areas.

According to the details outlined in the application, the project should provide employment for seven individuals for a one year period. The work will probably be broken down into two six month work terms.

Potential employees must be registered with the Manpower Office in Haliburton.

Township clerk Elinor Burke said the municipality expects to receive written confirmation of the agreement shortly and a contract between the township and the NEED authorities will be signed to seal the deal. Work should begin shortly.

Rosemary Kenney, Emily Henderson and Haliburton County Warden Bill Howe participate in the sandbox earth turning ceremony celebrating CHACE place's grand opening. The Centre, located in the Sir Sandford Fleming building in Haliburton, will operate as a drop-in centre for both children and parents. There will also be a toy-lending library available for children as well as a resource library for parents.

Chamber debate continues

The debate over the direction the Chamber of Commerce's promotion of the Haliburton Highlands is taking was continued at the April 14 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden townships council. Councillor Gary Kenney once again fenced with the Chamber's representative over what the organization should be doing to benefit the municipality.

The meeting was shown a motion picture produced by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation. The film was designed to illustrate the value of tourism to any one region in particular and the province in general. Mike Walker, a consultant with the ministry, who presented the film, told the meeting that the Haliburton Highlands played host to 2.3 million visitors who spent $76 million during 1982. Walker said he felt these estimates were low.

The ministry representative also said each dollar spent in the area by visitors assisted the local economy, being spent several times over. He said Anson, Hindon and Minden was an important "spoke" in the "wheel" of Highlands tourism.

Walker suggested that the municipality, which is considering the possibility of conducting a tourism development strategy within its own borders, consider expanding the investigation to include the entire county. He said this appeared to be a natural outcome of the shared attractions with other parts of the county.

Councillor Gary Kenney asked for a clarification on the "spin-off benefits" of tourism. He noted that Anson, Hindon and Minden received 13% of its tax revenue as a direct result of tourism related properties in the municipality. He said the township received more as a residential area than as a result of tourism spending. Walker responded by asking if the other 87% of the township's tax base would exist if the 13% generated from tourism was not there.

Camp plan defended

Concern for the loss of funding is being blamed for two established charitable organizations' objections to a rehabilitation camp planned for the shores of Lake Kashagawigamog. That was the reasoning offered by Ron Thompson the founder and executive director of the Recreational Rehabilitation Society of Ontario, for statement contained in an article appearing in the April 15 edition of the Toronto Star.

In the front page story, two of the more prominent fund raising organizations, the Easter Seals Society and the March of Dimes, questioned the need for the camp facility. A spokesman for the Easter Seals Society said the group had ample room within the camps it owns to meet the needs of the children it represents in Ontario.

Thompson said he was surprised by the reaction of the March of Dimes personnel to the camp proposal. "We met with people from their organization to outline our plans," he commented. "I was under the impression they would take a wait and see attitude on what we are doing."

He said that letters to the Easter Seals Society have gone unanswered.

"These are two well-established organizations with set expenses and programs to operate," Thompson commented. "All groups like ours are in competition for a fixed number of charitable dollars available. The other groups are concerned about the loss of income which may result from support for our organization." Thompson said his organization has the other groups "running scared" because they were "the new kid on the block."

According to plans announced in January by one of their fund raisers, Nick Holmes, the Recreational Rehabilitation Society of Ontario has leased the resort property known as Hunter's Horn on Lake Kashagawigamog. They intend to refurbish the resort, which has been vacant for a number of years, to make the buildings accessible by handicapped individuals.

The Society has set $800,000 for its target amount to be raised to get the camp operational. Thompson said it was hoped that a camping program could be started at the site by late September of this year.

Thompson said the camp was being designed to cater

Chamber effort challenged

Kenney said this township was too far removed from the major attractions to derive direct benefit from tourism promotion. He suggested that if the spending of tourist benefits all sectors of the community, then the equation should work in reverse. He asked the representatives why should all the promotion funds be spent on tourism when residential development, such as retirement homes and vacation homes, are more beneficial to the municipality. Walker said that spending to promote these aspects of a community is a municipal responsibility.

Kenney said the greatest economic impact on this community comes from cottagers, not from transient tourists. Walker then stated that cottagers were considered part of the tourist industry. "Then why can't we promote that part of the industry?" Kenney asked.

Walker back-tracked later during the discussion saying that cottagers were not considered part of the tourism industry.

"If you want to promote transient tourism, you must take one direction, if you want to promote cottaging, you have to take another,"

he said. "I'm not telling you to do one or the other," he commented. "Go after the one you feel is important. It is up to you to represent your community, to represent your goals and objectives."

The president of the Chamber Rhonda Elstone pointed out that most cottagers came to this area as tourists the first few times before deciding to invest in a vacation home here. She suggested the municipality should be making an effort to market to the transient tourists when they are in the area on vacation.

Kenney asked why the Chamber did not attend the Home Show in Toronto, promoting this area as a vacation property or retirement location. Elstone, who operates a contracting business, said that people attending the Home Show are looking for ideas on what to build, not where. Kenney responded by pointing out that he had attended the Home Show and he felt it was a legitimate location to promote this area.

Chamber manager Bob Stinson pointed out that while six real estate agencies from this area attend the Sportsmen's Show, the one which the Chamber of Commerce attends each year, only one agency attends the Home Show.

Elstone said it was the township's responsibility to prepare a brochure promoting the area. She said there is no effort being made to promote Minden to the transient tourists who come to the Highlands.

Booth

The question of the information booth which the municipality, along with Lutterworth Township plans to erect near the Victoria County border, was raised. Elstone said the Chamber did not object to the booth but cautioned it must be well staffed and supplied since it will be the first booth the visitors to the county will see. She said the townships will have a greater responsibility in the booth's operation than that of Dysart with its caboose information centre or the one in Cardiff. She said she didn't feel the booth would result in more people visiting Minden.

Kenney, who is on the committee co-ordinating the effort, said the group would co-operate as much as possible with the Chamber of Commerce in representing the county and the two communities.

LCBO possible for Glamorgan

Glamorgan township could have a Liquor Control Board of Ontario outlet in Gooderham in 1984, according to projections board officials recently gave to a deputation from the municipality.

Reeve Robert McCausland, Deputy Reeve R. Jane Franklin, MPP John Eakins and clerk treasurer Elva Bates met with the officials in Toronto March 21.

Bates said the group had a "positive" reception to their request and added the municipality could have an outlet "not this year but the next."

Bates said part of the presentation to the Board was "a letter of support from local business people," and a map clearly illustrating Glamorgan's closest stores in Haliburton, Wilberforce and Kinmount, and that "we're a large hole in the middle."

In 1978 the municipality held a "liquor vote" which established "that the township was, shall we say, wet," said Bates. The township had discussions with the Board in 1980 and assumed something was going to be done, judging from the favourable reception. However, council decided a "personal presentation" was the next step after nothing was done to set up the outlets.

to all groups within the disabled care field. He said he had received a number of inquiries from organizations interested in the service being offered. He refused to identify these groups saying he would want to check with them first before releasing their names.

Thompson also questioned the Easter Seals Society contention that their own camps are enough to meet the needs of the crippled children in the province. He said the organization provided camping for just over 1000 children last year.

The executive director said the article in the Toronto Star has had a noticeable impact on the fund raising efforts of the group. However, he suggested there would be no long term impact as a result of the report. His organization has prepared a statement in response to the Star story.

"We plan to proceed as scheduled," Thompson stated. He said initial cleanup operations at the camp, the burning of grass and clearing of debris from the property should begin shortly.

Thompson said there was also a possibility a province-wide service club would purchase the property and lease it back to the Society at a nominal fee. He said this practice has been followed in other similar situations. The service organization was not identified. Some question as to the ownership of the property and the lease payments the Society is making to the owner, Hart Property Investments Limited, owned by an Alberta company, were raised in the Star article.

Thompson said the group would be seeking co-operation with the local community and suggested support of volunteers to help get the camp going would be appreciated. "We believe strongly in volunteer action," he commented. "It helps to keep our costs down and it gives local residents a pride in the facility."

The Rehabilitation Society held a meeting at the PineStone Inn Wednesday evening to explain its program. According to Thompson, the group wanted to inform local individuals what was planned for the property. Some ten individuals were in attendance.

Thompson was questioned on the camp's operation, program and funding. He told the gathering, his organization was looking for three directors from the area for the Society's Board.

Thompson has agreed to speak to an upcoming meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce to explain the camp's program.

200 attend Tory delegate meeting

The growing popularity of the Progressive Conservative party was in evidence last Thursday night as over 200 people packed a Legion hall in Lindsay to elect delegates to represent Victoria-Haliburton at the upcoming Tory leadership convention.

The evening was an orderly affair, showing none of the in-fighting between party factions that has marred delegate selection meetings in Quebec.

A total of six delegates were chosen in three secret ballots, three YPC (Young Progressive Conservatives) and three senior delegates. The six will travel to Ottawa on June 10 to cast their votes in the race to determine who will lead the party in the next federal election.

In addition, six alternates were chosen. The alternates will also attend the leadership convention, but will not have voting privileges.

Barb Dawson of Haliburton as the women's delegate, Bill McDougall and Lorne Chester of the Minden resident Toni Carr addresses the P.C. delegates selection meeting Thursday in Lindsay.

Lindsay area were the three chosen to go to Ottawa. The YPC reps chosen were Lori Raymond, Ron Suggitt and Guy Scott.

The three senior delegates were chosen out of 14 candidates who were nominated at the meeting.

Surprisingly, when it came time for the 14 nominees to speak to the crowd, only one would commit himself to voting for one of the leadership candidates.

Jack McNeil told the group that he would support Joe Clark, the man who led the party to victory in 1979; only to see his government defeated a short time later. Clark resigned as party leader at a party convention in Winnipeg in January, but remains a leading candidate in the current leadership race.

"He (Clark) has suffered enough," McNeil said. "He's suffered at the hands of (the media), of course the Opposition, (Liberals) and even his own party. He deserves our support."

Other riding party members don't agree with that statement, if the results of a recent poll are any indication. Quebec businessman, Brian Mulroney received the most endorsement in a poll in which party members were asked to name their favourite candidate for leader.

Mulroney finished first in the poll, with 70 votes, just ahead of Ontario premier Bill Davis, who received 66 votes despite the fact that he has not declared his candidacy. Former Toronto mayor, David Crombie was third with 56 votes. Clark and Peter Blaikie were tied for fourth with 49 votes apiece.

None of the other delegates openly declared support for any of the leadership candidates at the Thursday meeting.

Lindsay lawyer Ted Gardiner drew some boos from the crowd when he requested that all delegates state their position on nuclear disarmament.

Fenelon Falls resident Monty Robson appeared to echo the sentiments of many of those in attendance when he spoke in favour of "bargaining from a position of strength" in nuclear disarmament talks with other governments.

Victoria-Haliburton MP Bill Scott told The Times that he was pleased with the turnout at the delegate meeting. Scott will be attending the Ottawa leadership convention along with the delegates.

Council studies problem

Litterers may find things a little tougher in the townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden this year.

Responding to a number of inquiries and complaints the municipal council has instructed its by-law enforcement officer, Dick Schell to investigate how the township's regulation concerning littering could be made tougher.

Councillor Gary Kenney told the meeting he knew of areas in the townships where garbage is strewn along the roadway. He said there were places which appeared to be "favourite spots" for people leaving the area Sunday afternoon to toss garbage bags. "There is nothing better than a conviction of a couple of these individuals to make others realize they are risking a fine by doing the same things."

By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told the meeting it is difficult to obtain a conviction for littering. He said the individual must be observed throwing the garbage onto public property. "It is not enough to find someone's name on an envelope in a bag of garbage left behind. That is not proof they put it there," Schell said.

Glamorgan council approves increase

The township of Glamorgan's council voted themselves a raise during the March 15 meeting. It was a split recorded vote taken during a committee of the whole which provided council with the increase.

The raise, limited to five percent by the provincial government's current anti-inflation policy, was recorded by clerk Elva Bates. Reeve Robert McCausland, Deputy Reeve R. Jane Franklin and councillor Larry Hunter

He noted the municipal by-law covering littering provides for a fine of up to $300. However, he also pointed out that the set "out of court" settlement is $18.

Councillor Pat Burk said the $18 fine was "ridiculous."

tipped the scales in favour of the increase while Dallyn Pickens and Glen Madill voted against it.

With the raise, Reeve McCausland will receive $3,622.50 up from $3,450, Franklin will receive $3,412.50 from $3,250 and councillors Pickens, Hunter and Madill will receive $3,150 from $3,000.

During council's March 2 meeting, township employees received a raise under the inflation board's guidelines. Also, expenses for council members, staff and appointees and allowances for appointees were considered.

Observations

The Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council has polled a number of local clubs about Canada Day celebrations for the community. Only one has bothered to respond, the Minden Kinsmen.

Surely the other organizations are interested in getting involved in this special day. If not, they should have the courtesy to reply.

The council is interested in learning from any group willing to contribute to our birthday celebrations. Are you there?

During the discussion of the Chamber's role in promoting the county, and Anson, Hindon and Minden in particular, Chamber president Rhonda Elstone said most cottagers came here first as tourists. The statement carries a certain degree of validity, except when one realizes that one does not have to be too far from home to become a tourist.

Who among the population would invest money in an investment property without viewing it first. Were these individuals here in search of property or on vacation?

We agree when the Chamber president points out that the municipalities do not do enough to promote their own attributes. The responsibility for the shortage of material lies with the townships. The chamber could do a better job of representing the municipalities if it had something to work with.

A new sense of excitement has been generated by the announcement yesterday that the Anson, Hindon and Minden request for NEED support has been granted.

The $145,600 the municipality has received will provide an important shot in the arm for development programs for the community. As well, a work sharing program with the Ministry of Natural Resources and the possibility of extra funding for street improvements, will help to extend the plans once approved is received.

We hope the programs will help to stimulate individual initiative to complement the municipal effort.

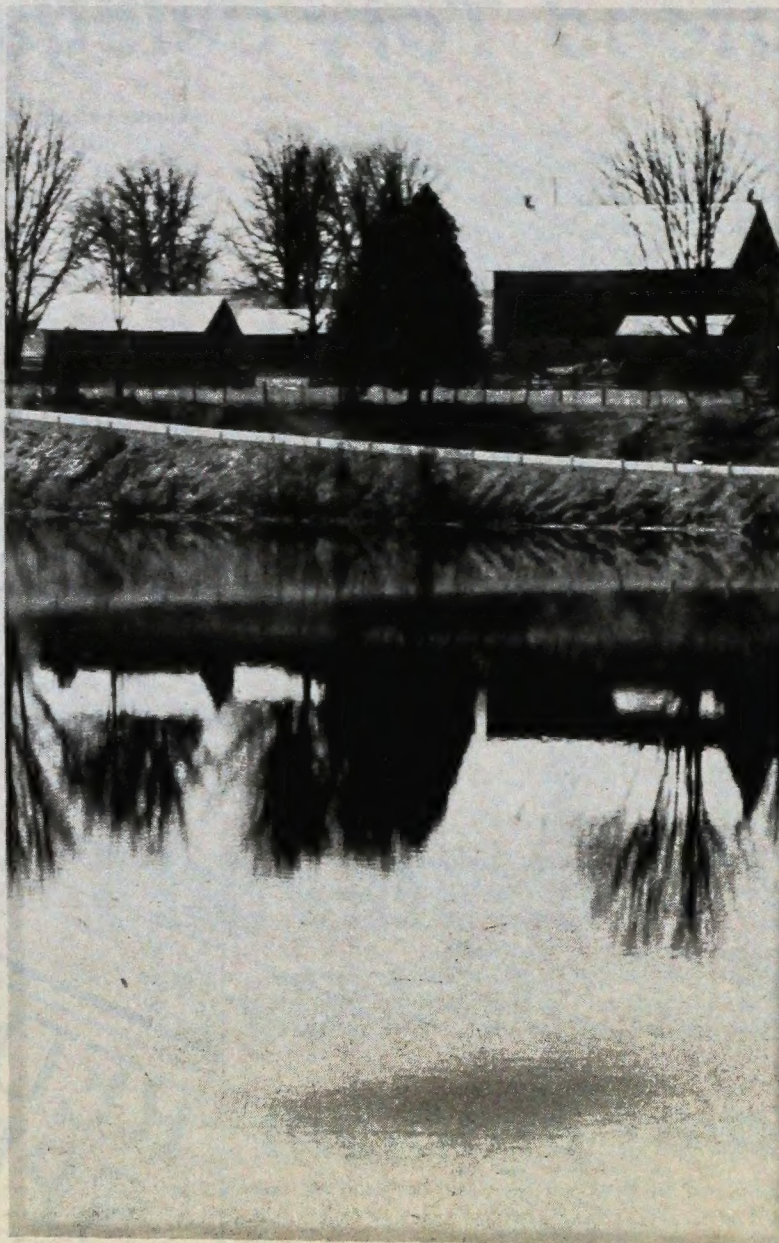

Finally, spring can't be far off. After all, it snowed Tuesday night didn't it?

Dioxin poses increased threat

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

On Monday, the Thirty-second Legislature of Ontario reconvened, and in next week's column I hope to report on the Speech from the Throne and other proceedings of the opening of this 3rd Session.

Dioxin in Ontario Water

My colleague, Murray Elston M.P.P. (Huron-Bruce), has written to the Minister of the Environment on the issue of dioxin in Ontario's water supply. He pointed out that dioxin represents a whole new generation of health contaminants in our drinking water, that "it and many other harmful organic chemicals generated by our modern industries are toxic and insidious. They are often odourless and tasteless, and generally hard to detect. They can have serious effects even in extremely low amounts (in the parts per trillion). And they are persistent, remaining decades in our living environment. Their effects are not always immediate. Years pass by before they manifest themselves as cancer, or mutagens, or any number of ailments."

Dioxin is being discovered in increasing amounts in Ontario's environment—in herring gull eggs, in trout, bass and eel, in the tissue of a Kingston man, in Elmira ground water, in the raw drinking water supply of St. Catharines and Niagara-on-the-Lake, in St. Clair River fish and in the stack emissions of SWARU's incinerator plant in Hamilton.

Murray Elston has called upon the Ministry of the Environment to "take a number of steps now to head off what could become a 'Dioxin Plague'".

1. Established regular, ongoing tests for harmful chemicals at the fresh water intakes of Ontario's drinking water treatment plants.

2. Carry out similar tests for trace amounts of the chemicals in the treated drinking water at each of the plants.

3. Establish a research and development program on new types of treatment systems for removing dioxin and other chemicals.

4. Take steps to prevent dioxin and other harmful chemicals from entering our aquatic systems. (Millions of gallons of toxics continue to be dumped into our land and water eco-systems with little or no remedial action being taken.)

5. Support the legal action being taken by two Canadian groups (Operation Clean-

Niagara Falls, New York, which is suspected of leaking dioxin into Lake Ontario.

6. Develop a Safe Drinking Water Act for the Province of Ontario which will determine safe levels and set standards which will protect Ontario's drinking water in the face of the growing chemical threat and the increasing "Dioxin Plague".

Leacock comes alive on Haliburton stage

An intimate and revealing portrait of Canada's best known humourist Steven Leacock was presented in Haliburton Monday.

Barry Belchamber presented the one man show he conceived and scripted based on life and writings of Leacock.

The presentation, part of the concert series sponsored by the Guild of Fine Arts was a delightful success.

Belchamber's interpretation of Leacock humour was dead-on, catching the wry twist of the man writings with just the right pause or jesture. Much of what Leacock wrote poked subtle jest at pompous institutions of his day. The humour in his writing is often sly, sneaking up on the reader before he knows it is there. Belchamber has been able to master the subtlety of the printed word and presented visually without turning it into a broad, slapstick comedy sketch or underplaying it to a point that its value is lost.

Belchamber's Leacock was set in a cozy study with a tea pot, brandy decanter, pipe, cigar and comfortable old chair all close at the hand. As he paced the stage, Belchamber presented some of Leacock best loved sketches, re-enacting the comic details Belchamber wrote about 30 percent of the script, relying on Leacock's writings for the remainder.

Between the humours sketches Belchamber offered interesting insight into Leacock the man. Serious comments about his early life, years as a university professor and the death of his wife from cancer contrasted sharply with the wit of Leacock the humourist.

Not only has Belchamber mastered the humour of Leacock, he has brought the character to life, presenting the audience with a 60 year old retired university professor, somewhat slow and forgetful perhaps, but full of exciteful observations.

His physical interpretations of Stephen Leacock is very opposed to the real man.

Belchamber studied Leacock's life and work for three years in preparation for the production. No cinematic record of Leacock exists although there were photographs, recordings and observations of the authors friends and family to tap for information.

Belchamber had obviously done his homework for on the opening night of the production, Madly In All Directions in Toronto, Leacocks neice, Elizabeth Kimble was in the audience.

She commented after seeing the performance, "That is uncle Stephen," amply rewarding Belchamber for his three years of research and work.

In an interesting side light into the serious research which went into preparing the production, Belchamber noted that during the presentation he coughs a number of times. "Some people might consider this natural, and perhaps it adds to the spontaniety of the presentation, but it is encluded for a reason. Leacock died of throat cancer and in his later years he was bothered by a persistant cough. That's why I included it."

Belchamber admits that touches like these might only be of interest to serious students of Leacock, but he feels they help to add to the authenticity of the production.

Economics

Belchamber found Leacock, who in addition to being an humourist was a professor of economics, out of economic necessity. "I was an actor in Toronto who wasn't getting much theatre work," Belchamber recalled during intermission Monday. "I was appearing in a large number of commercials but wasn't getting enough of the kind work I wanted, so I decided to write my own script."

Belchamber wanted to write a one man play about a famous Canadian, gearing the work toward the student audience. "I considered a number of Canadians, John A MacDonald, Wilfred Laurier and others until I decided on Leacock," he said. He choose the humourist because it would allow him to bring levity into the presentation, something he felt was important in holding the students' attention.

The three years of study into Leacock life and writing resulted in a 45 minute school presentation. It proved so popular Belchamber decided to extend it to a full length theatre presentation.

It opened in Toronto in the summer of 1981 and received rave reviews from the Toronto press. However, since the production was being mounted during the summer months, when most of Toronto's theatre community flee the city, financial success did not follow on the hills of critical acclaim.

Belchamber is still pleased with the response he received from his audience. "I enjoy being on stage and entertaining people," he said. "If they go home feeling they have been entertained I'm happy. With a responsive audience, like the one tonight, it is that much more enjoyable."

Belchamber has presented "Madly In All Directions" close to one hundred times. More than half of those performances have been in theatres outside of Toronto. While he hasn't played outside of Ontario, he would like to take the show to other provinces. "I'd like to perform across the country," he states enthusiastically. "I'd like to take it to Broadway, around the world."

That enthusiasm has also lead Belchamber to begin writing another production, once again drawing on the writing of Leacock for much of his material and adding his own perceptions of the man to tie the script together.

Judging by the audiences reaction Monday, his return with the new production can't come too soon.

Barry Belchamber found a warm and appreciative audience in Haliburton Monday for his incisive interpretation of humourist Stephen Leacock.

They've long since held the opening and made all the announcements but it seems like the Hospitality Training Centre still doesn't really feel as though it exists until the students are in the "classroom". That event will take place on Monday, May 2 and the many hours of work of the committee over the past two years will finally have reached fruition. The committee's work will not be done however, as it will be busy monitoring and measuring the success of the project and considering any improvements that can be made along the way.

The entire staff has now been hired and the committee is very pleased with the exceptional people they have been able to acquire for the various positions. Rebecca Parkes, who will head up the project, is a very energetic young lady and her enthusiasm spills over to everyone she works with. Pat Burnes and Bill Hicks both have a lot of experience as well as professional training and Karen Pockett has been doing an excellent job in the office end of the project for several weeks ahead.

Dennis Casey and Walter Thomas have both done a great deal of work for the committee through the formative stages of the project and will now be going on to other things in the knowledge that their efforts have resulted in great accomplishments. The committee and the community owes both of them a debt of gratitude for their contribution.

Canadian Chamber fails to address acid rain issue.

Back in February the Canadian Chamber of Commerce met with the U.S. Chamber and between them issued some very "wishy-washy" statements regarding the issue of Acid Rain in our two countries. We were not impressed at that time and were quick to point out to our members that our Chamber is not a member of the Canadian Chamber and in no way supports or relates to their position on this matter. Tourism Ontario recently held a press conference to identify further that its stand also did not take into consideration "interests represented by our Federation, not those of the Tourism Industry Association of Canada (TIAC)." Tourism Ontario then proceeded to enlarge on its views on this very urgent concern that will affect many millions of us both in Canada and the U.S.

"The Movement against Acid Rain" citizen's committee has organized a fund raising dinner at the Toronto Sheraton Centre to be held Wednesday May 9. The keynote speaker will be Allan Gottlieb, Canada's ambassador to the United States and the film "Requiem or Recovery?" will be shown. This is the film that has become so controversial in the U.S. when it was censored by the U.S. Justice Department.

Tickets are $100.00 per plate or a membership in the movement may be purchased for $25.00. For more information contact Jeffrey Shearer, 2171 Avenue Road, Suite 305, Toronto M5M 4B4, 416-482-8260.

MNR hurting tourism

Alan Pope, Minister of Natural Resources, is already under heavy attack from the resort industry about the Native Fishing Agreement he signed on behalf of the province. Those catering to American fishermen became even more enraged last week when word came from across the border that the "Ontario Government had declared war on American fishermen." Several operators reported that cancellations had been pouring in due to the new fishing regulations which had yet to be circulated locally.

The regulations call for an increase in the non-resident licence from $15.00 to $24.00 and the valid period is reduced from a season to only 3 weeks. The move was apparently made in response to a Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters' submission that unscrupulous U.S. residents were over fishing some of the northern border areas every weekend on one licence. Unfortunately the cure has a negative effect on a large number of U.S. tourists, however, who are both wanted and needed in Central Ontario.

Bicroft fair

Tentative plans for an extensive summer fair have council "excited" about the prospect said clerk Sandra McColl. Resident Joe Paul approached council with plans for the fair during Bicroft council's March 31 meeting.

The plans call for a midway, rodeo, pancake breakfast on each of the two days, a dance Saturday evening, "some type of competition with fire departments" from across the county, a beauty contest, a Canadian Air Force demonstration and a log drawing competition. There may also be a beer garden and other games about the softball diamond area for which the event is planned.

Realtors concerned about program

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins attended the Haliburton Real Estate Board dinner to discuss his role as the chairman of the task force to study rural Ontario. The dinner was held at the Fireside Restaurant in Minden April 14.

Eakins stressed the need for co-operation from residents of Haliburton County to assist the task force in making recommendations to the Ontario government. The areas of concern the task force is applying itself to are the problems of creating jobs in rural areas, methods to attract employment, the lack of adequate transportation, the high rural hydro rates and the need for larger convention facilities.

During his speech, Eakins also suggested a "closing down" of Queens Park for two to three weeks to enable members to visit their constituencies, a desirable aim to the MPP.

Past president of the Board, Larry Vanlieshout, expressed his concern with the Native and Rural Housing program in the area. The program, one of several offered by the federal government's Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC), started in the county last year with some eight to 10 housing units sold. Vanlieshout's concern is that the units, while benefitting the building industry, have a high price tag. He noted the houses are selling in the $55,000 to $60,000 range while the average home sale in the country is $36,000.

The Board's current president Lyn Craigmyle concurred with Vanlieshout's estimation. He said the high price would appear to contradict the purpose of the program.

Broken beaver dam floods roadway

A broken beaver dam resulted in a flood on Maple Street in Haliburton Friday. The volume of water could not be handled by culverts and water washed across the road by Kennedy Surplus.

Dysart roads manager Howard Roberts said the broken dam was located at a pond "known locally as Thayer's Pond." Roberts said Harold Kennedy of Kennedy Surplus is claiming water damage to his business as a result of the deluge. Damage to a sidewalk in the area has "almost been repaired," he added. Municipal eventually redirected the flow to a new watercourse.

Roberts said it "seems to me it was around this time last year" the dam broke in the same manner. In fact, municipal council specifically mentioned the Thayer dam pond when discussing nuisance beavers at an earlier meeting in 1982. "There's nothing we can do," said the foreman about the dam. "It's on private property."

Council briefs

Items from the April 14 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council.

Fire Contribution

A donation of $50 was approved by the council to assist in defraying the cost of automobile extractions course held in Minden last summer. The meeting was told that the county government had agreed to contribute $500 toward the cost with the six participating municipalities being asked to add $50 each. A number of Minden Fire Department members took part in the week-long training session.

Museum President

The Minden County Town Museum committee has a new president. Irene Moore has been appointed to the post. She replaces Aileen Blears who is stepping down for health reasons. Mrs. Blears will continue to serve on the museum committee.

Mrs. Moore's appointment will be until June 1984.

Guild Scholarship

The municipality will again sponsor a scholarship for a County student at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts course of their choice during the summer session. Names of the students to be awarded the scholarships will be announced at the opening of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts summer sale.

Program Retired

A provincially sponsored program which assisted with the rehabilitation of existing housing has been cancelled. Council was told the Ontario Home Renewal Program was cancelled and no new grants would be issued to support it.

It was suggested that a similar program, under a new name and with perhaps different terms of reference may be announced with the spring provincial government.

Municipalities who participate in the O.H.R.P.

program in the past may still continue to offer the program for some time to come. Since in many cases the funds administered by the municipality were given out on a loan basis, the townships will be free to make that money available to applicants.

Car Racing

Minden could host three car racing on ice events next winter, the council was told. Councillor Gary Kenney, reporting on remarks from local racing organizer Tom Prentice, said the participants were particularly pleased with the facilities in Minden and were considering holding their major events here next season. The sanctioning body usually allots only one major event to a community.

Reeve Lyle McKnight will write to the participating clubs thanking them for the attendance during the past season.

It has been suggested as well that the municipality sponsor a trophy for the sport. Kenney pointed out that since next year would mark Minden's 125th Anniversary it would be an appropriate time for the township to make the gesture. The matter is to be discussed at council's next meeting.

More Cars

The council was also informed that the Black Bear Car Rally would be held in Minden June 4 this year. As well, planning is already underway for the Kinsmen Club demolition derby, Thanksgiving weekend and possibly snowmobile grass drags on the Labour Day weekend.

Here is another list of selections available to you at the Minden Public Library.

Adult Non-Fiction

Author: Don Gold.

Title: Until The Singing Stops.

This is a collection of stories of twenty older men and women who have lived a full life and to whom age is only a matter of numbers.

They tell not only about their own life, yesterday and to-day, but give their opinion on what it means to live with the approach of death.

Their stories are filled with spirit and teach us that hard work is not all drudgery and the rewards from working hard are very worth while.

This book will educate and entertain readers of all ages.

Adult Fiction

Author: William Styron.

Title: Sophie's Choice.

This book unfolds a story as absorbing and effective and memorable as any work of fiction in our time. It is written at full tilt, and the mastery of its style and the power of its narrative never falter.

Stingo came to Brooklyn by way of Virginia and the Marine Corps—with a brief sojourn as a manuscript reader at McGraw-Hill. He settled in Yetta Zimmerman's pink-painted rooming house, where the rent was cheap enough for a young man with only a few hundred dollars to devote himself to the novel he wanted to write. Sophie and Nathan lived upstairs, as he agonizingly discovered when their rookbed threatened to collapse the ceiling.

Thus began a strange relationship: Sophie, the Polish Catholic girl whose wrist bore the grim stamp of a concentration camp.... Nathan, her lover, the charismatic Jewish intellectual...and the narrator Stingo, the sex-starved "South'n boy who was instantly captivated by Sophie's vulnerable blond beauty.

As Stingo struggles with his book—and tries desperately to cope with his growing but unrequited love for the woman upstairs—he also becomes Sophie's confidant, irresistibly absorbed in the harrowing story she tells of Nathan's obsessive jealousy and her own unshakable devotion to him.

In Sophie's Choice, William Styron gives us a love story so hauntingly evocative that it and its heroine, will become an indelible part of the reader's imagination and our literature.

A Red Cross programme called "Vial of Life" provides life saving information in your home in case of crisis or emergency.

The Minden Branch of the Red Cross is the sponsor of this programme for our area. It is for individuals who live alone, senior citizens, parents who leave their children at home with babysitters and non-english speaking immigrants. It applies to all who wish to provide for their care in case of fire, sudden illness, accident or other emergency.

Vial of Life is a simple programme. You fill out a form which includes the name of your doctor, medical insurance number, etc. This information is placed in a vial or pill box and fastened to the underside of the upper right hand shelf of your refrigerator where it will be easily found by rescue personnel if the need arises. The refrigerator has been chosen because it is easily accessible and offers protection against fire. It is recommended that the information be filled out in pencil for easy updating.

Vials of Life are obtainable from the Haliburton County Home Support Services, telephone 457-2941.

Police probe stereo thefts

Over $1,000 in stereo equipment and cassette tapes were stolen in a three day period at various locations around the county.

Haliburton Arena was the scene for the theft of a $550 stereo system. At the Pinestone Inn parking lot a $225 booster unit for a system was stolen. A cassette case with 14 tapes valued at $120 was taken from a vehicle parked at the Beaconbrook Hotel. Finally, a stereo estimated at $190 was stolen from a parked car near Dorset. A side window was broken to gain entry.

Police report none of the items recovered.

Cottage Break-In

were sentenced to six months in prison after being convicted of approximately 30 break-ins in the Coleman and Redstone Lakes area in Guilford Township. The three had also stolen three snowmobiles to which they caused extensive damage.

PC Mike Smith stopped the car in which the youths were driving and noticed the car was packed with various items. Questioning led to the youths' arrest and discovery of the thefts.

The three, Robert Kiser, 18, Bradley Faulkner, 17, and Spencer Wagner, 18, all of Michigan received six months and three years of probation, one of the conditions being a ban from Canada.

Kinsmen only club to respond

Only one club in the Minden area is interested in helping the municipality in organizing a celebration for Canada Day 1983.

That is the interpretation the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council placed on the fact that only the local Kinsmen Club responded to inquiries about the celebration. The Minden Kinsmen's told the council it would be willing to assist in marking Canada's birthday.

Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke told the meeting that a number of letters had been sent out but only one club had responded. It was suggested that even if the other groups were not interested in participating they should at least respond to the township's inquiries.

The clerk was asked to contact the clubs which hadn't responded to obtain their feelings. The matter will be discussed again at the April 28 council meeting.

Loom expands weavers talents

"The loom has brought our group together. We're a better organization for having it."

The comments are those of Judy Chapman speaking at the opening night of the Dream Weaving exhibition at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery at the Minden Cultural Centre. The show features numerous items created on the 100 inch loom, and other weaving projects completed by members of the Haliburton County Weavers and Spinners group.

The 100 inch loom has been in the community for almost a year, arriving in May of last year. The large loom belongs to the Ontario Handweavers and Spinners Association and is made available to local groups for a year to enable the members to create work which wouldn't be possible on the smaller looms.

The loom has been at the Cultural Centre during its stay in the county. Thursday evening, the night of the opening, several members of the local group kept the loom in operation, showing visitors how the intricate machine works. Two weavers are required to operate it.

Both the common room and the gallery were filled with woven articles, from full size bedspreads to items of clothing and colourful dinner placemats. The two rooms, crowded with exhibits, attested to the time and devotion of the members of the local association.

Chapman, who heads the group, said the loom has had an impact on the members' skills and interest in weaving. She pointed out that the large loom allowed them to work on projects that simply were not possible before. The group has been so impressed with the results that they have already put their name back on what is described as "a five year waiting list" to have the loom back in the county for another year.

"Nothing is original in weaving," Chapman explained. "Most of the patterns we are using today have been handed down over the centuries by itinerant weavers. Only variations on these older established designs are possible now."

She pointed out that someone taking a different approach or finding a fresh angle on an established pattern can find it to be a rewarding experience.

As an expression of their appreciation to the Library-Cultural Centre for housing their 100 inch loom for the year, the weavers have created a bedspread which is currently being raffled. The proceeds from the draw will go to the promotion of arts and crafts in the area. Tickets, which are on sale at the gallery or from members of the group are being sold for $1. The draw is scheduled to take place July 27.

Active members of the weavers and spinners include Diane Arppe, Elsie Bursey, Pat Campbell, Judy Chapman, Vicki Cross, Jean Farrell, Shirley Hodgson, Nancy Hubert, Marion Langdon, Esther Lee, Debbie Mansfield, Barbara Peel, Penny Obee, Mary Spence, Donna Vander Wekken, and Mary Walling.

The show continues at the gallery until May 7. The gallery is open from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday.

Penny Obee and Judy Chapman operate the 100 inch loom at the Minden Cultural Centre at Thursday evening's "Dream Weaving" opening while Freda Hulbig looks on.

Badminton teams win championship

The junior and senior badminton teams at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School are the first athletic teams in the school's history to win a double 'A' championship.

That proud fact was announced this past week by coach Glen Scully after the teams returned from the Kawartha finals competitions last week. In those matches, five of the six competing junior teams qualified for the COSSA meet while five of the eight competing seniors teams will take part in the COSSA competition.

The teams first competed in the Kawartha West tournament in Lindsay. They were named the championship team in both divisions. Later in the North Central Kawartha qualifying tournament the teams won the double 'A' championships and berths in the Central Ontario Secondary School Association meet.

The seniors travel to Napanee today for the competition which will see players from high schools throughout eastern Ontario battling to take part in the all-Ontario play-offs. The junior teams will meet in Lindsay on Thursday.

Scully notes that this will be the toughest competition the teams have faced as only the top two teams of the twelve taking part will qualify for the all Ontario meet.

We had a special service in the chapel Sunday night, had the Thompsons back with us which was a delight. We also has their Minister son Robert as our special guest. He sang, and took the main part of the service giving Rev. Burgess a rest.

Down at Fun & Fitness where we have a lot of fun, rolling the balls through the slots in the box and Carrie Jones won. The movies Monday night were "SoapBox Derby," "Pioneer Days," "Ottawa reflection of a Nation in many different ways" real colourful.

Robert McBrien of the Minden Gospel Church held a very impressive service in the chapel this Tuesday, our faithfuls also came to sing and play. We are always glad when Robert comes to speak to us again.

We have Tammy Alton helping in the kitchen for two weeks or so she wants to learn how to handle the dough. Tammy is a student at Haliburton High School, and is on a work program at Hyland Crest Home. Bingo in the auditorium this Tuesday afternoon, I hope some of the residents made some money, we'll probably be hearing real soon. We are looking forward to the warmer days you know when we can go out and sit in our new gazebo. We had a fine couple who have been living next door to us, now this couples name is McGuire they got promoted and are moving up higher. It leaves us feeling well kinda blue, the only thing I see we can do is remember the McGuires when we are saying our prayers, for likely some day we'll be moving up stairs, too.

Tuesday night we were entertained by Payne, Deacon and Crowe. They played and sang some good old songs and put on a real good show. Daryl sang some real love songs and Bill played and sang some Scottish songs, You take the High road and I'll take the Low, and To the Lovely Cottage on the Hill. We had Card Games Wednesday afternoon instead of at night, the maintenance men were painting the Craft room to make it nice and bright.

A word about Marie Baker who shops for us all, whether the order is real large or small. Nothing seems to be too much trouble, if you are needing anything she is right there on the double.

Down at Fun and Fitness we would like to report here that the Horse shoe pitching was won by Ada Shorter. The ladies from the Anglican Church in Haliburton served a nice tea party this Thursday, they even washed all the dishes before they went away. Thank you for going to all this trouble on such a dismal day. Our Head Nurse had a birthday on the middle of the month, Congratulations Melinda hope many more will come your way. I didn't try to guess her age. I leave that to the experts, she might just give me a needle where it really hurts. The Bingo was conducted Thursday night by the Deacons, Eldon and Mabel, who came and called the numbers to the players around the table. Some members of the Kinsmen Club come up each Thursday night, we say a big thanks which is only right.

We had a happy time this Friday afternoon, Grace lead us in a Sing Song, some poems and jokes were shared. The music was nicely played by Mrs. Norma Barron.

A Day Well Spent
If you sit down at set of sun,
And count the acts that you have done.
And counting find,
One self denying deed or word
That eased the heart the one who heard.
One glance most kind
That fell like sunshine where it went,
Then you can count the day well spent.

Bert Harrison

Group plans May presentation

The Highlands Little Theatre of Haliburton is set to treat theatre goers with another comedy, Allan Stratton's "Nurse Jane Goes to Hawaii."

Vivien Bliss, a Harlequin romance writer arranges to spend a illicit weekend with Edgar Chisholm, a respectably married man. She starts a train of events which involves all the classic elements of farce-confused identities, disguise, long-lost relations, ambushes, chases and glorious mayhem.

This production is one which will delight audiences of all ages and will be performed at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School May 13 and 14 at 8:00 p.m.

Advance tickets will be available at several areas in the community at $3.00 for adults and $2.50 students and seniors. Tickets at the door will be sold at $4.00 for adults and $3.00 for students and seniors.

Now the sun is shining bright
You feel like getting on the move

Township, MNR share program

A new works program application, co-ordinated by the Ministry of Natural Resources, has been made by the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council. The details of the application were announced at the April 14 meeting of council.

According to an M.N.R. spokesman, the program will provide six weeks employment for three individuals on a ministry project at Cinder

Lake, and an additional 25 weeks work on assorted parks related projects in the municipality.

The labour portion of the project is 100% funded through a joint federal provincial program. The municipality will be responsible for $17,000 in materials, on the township projects, and for providing supervision.

The ministry project involves building an access point at Cinder Lake while the municipality work could involve the construction of a bike path at Rotary Park, constructing an access point on South Lake, shore line maintenance at various locations and general park maintenance.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, who is also a member of the townships recreation committee, commented that the committee would have to find money within its budget to cover the additional cost, if the program is approved.

Councillor Gary Kenney pointed out there could be some overlap in the proposed work with the municipality's NEED application which is currently being considered.

The council approved the application.

The Weavers' Exhibit which opened last Thursday, April 14 was a big success. In spite of the inclement weather, there was a great turnout. The show is called Dream Weaving and will be on display until May 7. The show is well worth viewing so please try to take advantage of the ladies' fine artistic achievements.

Attention weavers, painters, carvers, gardeners, potters and all other crafts people. Mini-Fair '83 will begin with the Minden Street Fair, sponsored by the Agnes Jamieson Gallery - June 10 and 11. There will also be special weekends like the County Fair and the Summer Carnival. When the event is a street fair, the Main street will be closed off from the Bank of Commerce building to Mark Vasey's. At other times, the pavilions will be located at the Minden County Square, adjacent to the municipal offices. On June 10 and 11, the booths will be available for $70 per booth. A pavilion consists of 6 booths which would make 18 altogether and several artists (up to four) can share a booth and the cost which includes the cost of a vendor's fee. On weekdays, a four day rental for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday would be $20.00 and on Friday, Saturday and Sunday the cost would be $50.00. Each artist or crafts person must have their own provincial sales tax vendor's permit.

I am sorry to report that Mr. Leigh Sisson of Maple Lake passed away last week. Our deepest sympathy to the members of his family.

The regular meeting of the A.C.W. was held at the Fireside Restaurant last Tuesday evening and was very well attended. Everyone enjoyed the delicious roast beef dinner. After the official business was taken care of, Joyce Hewitt reminisced about the early days of Girls' Guild, which was a group of young married women formed by Mrs. Harry Easton in 1949, and amalgamated with the Guild and WA in the mid-1960's. The ladies who participated in turning out 1070 delicious Easter eggs, were commended for their efforts.

Two oil paintings and a sketch have been donated to be raffled off by the ACW, the winners of the raffle will be announced at the summer bazaar.

Ann Campbell who is to be married in the near future, was feted at a lovely bridal shower, one of many, at St. Paul's Parish Hall a week ago Thursday. There was a tremendous crowd in attendance to wish the happy couple well and they received many beautiful gifts. We join in wishing them a very happy marriage.

On the occasion of his 81st birthday, Mr. Ezra Lott of Extencicare in Haliburton dined at the home of Dunc and Alice Prentice in Minden. A surprise guest at the feast was 85 year old Mr. Angus Coulter of Minden. Many happy returns Mr. Lott.

There are only two more weeks of mini-card parties at the Parish Hall. Try to get out for these and also the Pot Luck supper for this group is May 4. Winners last week included for cribbage: Joyce Hewitt; euchre, lone hands: Diane Warnes and high, Betty Harper.

I am sorry to report that Verna Jervis is presently confined to Civic Hospital in Peterborough. My father is also in Civic Hospital at the present time, unfortunately. I and all their friends wish them a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Walker of Toronto, spent the weekend with his mother and step-father Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrison of Maple Lake. They also enjoyed the company Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stamp of Minden.

Those attending the Harrison and Rose wedding last Saturday in Oshawa, were the bride's uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison and daughter, the bride's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Irie Barry all of Maple Lake and also her aunt Mary of Toronto. All the best to the happy couple.

Whenever I see a book written by author Morris West, I hungrily scoop it up. Proteus is such a book. The name Proteus is derived from Greek mythology, the God who protects sea creatures and can change his shape at will. He was given his power by Poseidon, God of the Sea. The main character, businessman John Spada, assumes this pseudonym at times, to accomplish his undercover activities for the good of mankind. Morris West is a fantastic writer and I cannot recommend his work highly enough. He is one of the finest writers of our time. It is a book you cannot put down once you have begun.

It is becoming more and more obvious that it is not starvation, not microbes, not cancer, but man himself who is mankind's greatest danger because he has no adequate protection against psychic epidemics which are infinitely more devastating in their effect than the natural catastrophies. Modern Man in search of a soul.

If you would like to hear some fantastic singing, a lot of Italian folk songs to be exact, do try to obtain Luciano Pavarotti's recording, entitled Standing Ovation. It is superb.

IN MEMORIAM

NESBITT

In loving memory of a dear father George J. Nesbitt who passed away April 17, 1982.
What we would give if we could say
Hello Dad in the same old way.

To hear your voice and see your smile

To sit with you and chat awhile,

So you who have a father
Cherish him with care

For you'll never know the heartache

Til you see his vacant chair Sadly missed, never to be forgotten
Joyce

PAPA GEORGE

Today is the day you went away
It seems like a long time
I really miss you papa
Because you were so kind

I go by your house almost everyday
And say, Papa George lived there
I remember the way you smile
And I knew you cared

Some kids have been lucky
But there has been few
Who have had a great papa
As sweet and kind as you
Sadly missed
Stacey Marie

NESBITT

In loving memory of a dear grandfather and great grandfather George, who passed away April 17, 1982.
We cannot bring the good times back
Your hands we cannot touch
But still we have sweet memories
Of the one we loved so much

What we would give to hold your hand

IN MEMORIAM

Your happy face to see
To hear your voice
And see your smile
That meant so much to me
What you suffered you told but few
You didn't deserve what you you went through Tired and weary you made no fuss
But tried so hard to stay with with us.
They say that memories are golden
And well I guess that's true
But we never wanted
memories Gramps,
We only wanted you.
